

Transform the way you serve and connect with your community

Public sector organizations need to keep pace with the demands of their residents for online information and service delivery, especially in the face of rapid community growth. They also need to provide up-to-date information, but don't always have the technical resources to do this.

Introducing Govstack, a platform built for the public sector

Govstack is a modular and scalable digital platform and ecosystem that enables you to engage, inform, serve, and connect with your community online, while cutting down on the cost and resources necessary to do so.

A single sign-on platform with the digital tools you need to optimally serve your residents

Govstack CMS[™]

A flexible and robust content management system that puts you in easy control of all website content, navigation and functionality – and even allows you to quickly create your own microsites.

Govstack Events[™]

An interactive tool to easily manage communications for your events, both paid and free. Create multiple calendars, aggregate them for a single master view, plan and publish in collaboration with other departments.

Govstack Forms[™]

A customizable forms integration that significantly cuts your service delivery costs by digitally collecting feedback and payments, and allowing your residents to transact business online.

Govstack Citizen Portal[™]

A personalized, citizen engagement portal that provides quick access to key information and services tailored to the unique needs of each resident, wherever and whenever they need it.

A stackable platform ready to grow with you

Whether you're building a website to help connect with your community, or a robust online platform that can deliver the services your community needs, Govstack can help.

Tailored to meet your unique needs, with:

- Single sign-on and centralized services access
- On-demand, 24/7 service delivery
- Scalability to grow with you
